re: notice to remove
multiple camphor trees
along the 700-block of Harrison St. and 600-
block of Fuller Ave.

Dear Sir/Madam,

This is a formal “letter of protest” regarding the numerous “tree removal notices” posted 4/6/21. These trees all appear to be healthy and are planted in generously wide curb strips; even the sidewalks all appear to be in good condition. The official reason given for the removal notice is “curb/gutter damage”, with “potential root loss”.

The 700-block of Harrison is a one-block dead-end street that serves but twenty residences, and the 600-block of Fuller has very little traffic as well. The “damaged curb/gutter” has negligible impact on traffic flow or public safety: would it hurt too much to just leave them well enough alone? Alternatively, perhaps they could be ground-down for better alignment, or the replacement curb could “bump-out” to avoid root loss.

I have long admired the many tree-lined streets of Willow Glen. I often “forest bathe” by walking the 1000-block of Westwood Dr., which is lined with heritage camphor trees. I love the row of camphors that I planted in my curb-strip along Willow St. some forty years ago. But I'll have to admit that the camphors along Fuller and Harrison appear even larger and healthier than any of these!

I appreciate that San Jose is repairing and repaving residential streets, and it does make sense to do any necessary curb repair prior to repaving. But please don't “destroy the village in order to save it”, and don't deforest this beautiful tree-lined street in order to repave it.

Thank you,
